

Designing for users with low vision

Do...

Don't...

use good colour contrasts and a readable font size use low colour contrasts and small font size publish all information on web pages bury information in downloads use a combination of colour, shapes and text only use colour to convey meaning follow a linear, logical layout

200% magnification

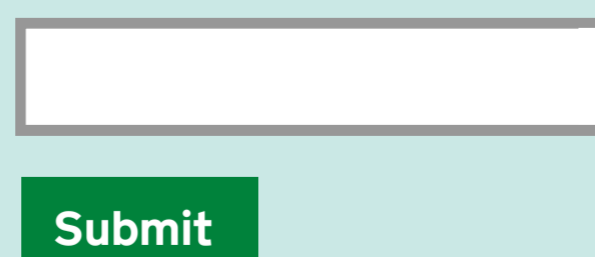

spread content all over a page

200% magnification

put buttons and notifications in context separate actions from their context

